

THE CLIMAX.

Wednesday, - - - April 2, 1920.

$100 IN GOLD GIVEN AWAY.

The Climax will Give Away $100 in Gold to its Subscribers.

After April 1st, each new subscriber paying one year in advance, or each old subscriber paying one year in advance will be given a ticket in the drawing. The Gold, the drawing first prize will receive $100 in Gold, the second prize will receive $50 in Gold, the third prize will receive $25 in Gold, the fourth prize will receive $10 in Gold, and the fifth prize will receive $5 in Gold, and the drawing fifth prize will receive two year's subscription to THE CLIMAX.

Count-down dinner. See Dinelli's local. Hobbes. See illustrated ad by Gormley & Co.

The grand jury found only eighty indictments.

See notice by F. Weckesser & Co., new confecturers.

Covington & Mitchell have a gentle way for you elsewhere to-day.

Geo. W. Pickels asks the attention of farmers to his notices of gear, etc.

Drop in Monday and get your tickets for the $100 in gold to be given away by the Climax.

Dr. Richard Allen, of Clark county, is located at College Hill, this county, in the practice of medicine.

Do you see that flag? It is not a tornado signal, but a welcome banner by Crooke, Bennett & Urmonston.

The new office of Myers & Case fills "a long felt want," in closing up the gap between the two mills on Main street.

The Walker land, near Pond Church, advertised in last week's CLIMAX, was withdrawn at $40, Saturday, says auctioneer Bush.

The live new firm of J. H. & J. S. Hagan, grocers, successors to Hagan & Chenaunt, have an announcement in today's CLIMAX.

The handsome circular of the spring season has just been issued from THE CLIMAX office by Mr. D. M. Bright, shoe and hat merchant.

The leaves at Greenville, Mississippi, where Dr. James Walker and other Richmond people live, have broken, and the whole country is flooded.

An oration by Mr. George W. Bain, formerly a resident of Richmond, now the distinguished Temperance advocate, is published elsewhere in this issue.

Judge Morton decided the land case in favor of Mrs. R. L. Shearer, as against Mrs. Gentry, involving the Charlie Walker place near Pond Church.

Rev. George Darnie at the Christian Church to-morrow night. Subject—"The Man of Sin." Admission 25 cents. Tickets at Covington, Arnold & Bro's.

On Wednesday, April 16th, Commissioner J. B. Burnam will sell the lands of W. C. Terrill, deceased, five miles east of Richmond, near Waco, containing about 400 acres.

Prof. Morrison, President of Bellwood Seminary, Anchorage, whose death is noticed elsewhere, was the father of Mr. W. L. Morrison, a student in Central University.

John Christopher, book-keeper for C. T. Wells & Co., has on a shoe which he was worn every day for nineteen years. It was made by the late Sam. Freeman. This is a gospel truth.

News from Winchester, yesterday, stated that Mrs. Eliza Moss, the venerable lady who recently visited Mrs. J. P. Herndon, this place, was not expected to live through the day.

$100,000 worth of new goods received by W. A. Powell, clothier, corner Main and First Streets. Look for his big ad, next week. In the mean time drop in and see the goods for yourself.

The first annual commencement of the Tennessee Medical College took place in St. Albans, Ohio, Knoxville, on the 21st, and we hear that Dr. R. N. Westerson, formerly a dentist in this place, was among the graduates.

Carpets. Mr. George M. Willing has on exhibition at his place, 209 West Main street, an extensive line of carpets in all grades from medium to the highest. See his ad.

Farm sold. Mr. Baxter Wells has sold his farm, the Joshua Park place, near Speedwell, to Mr. J. P. Gilbert, of Knox county. The price paid is $7,500 for the 190 acres. Mr. Gilbert has evidently secured a bargain.

Tumor Removed. A ten-pound tumor was on last Friday removed from the breast of Miss Sally Martin, of this county. Dr. C. S. Holton was assisted by Drs. Walton and Owens, of Cincinnati. The patient is doing well.

New Female College Building. The management of Madison Female Institute have decided to pull down the present house, now 33 years old, and erect a new one to cost $30,000. This is a good move. How Richmond's educational interests are growing!

10,000 Plants. Mr. L. Mullins, of the greenhouse firm of L. & M. F. Mullins, has returned from the cities where he bought flowering plants and old roses, in car-load lots, including 72 prize winners in chrysanthemums. They will be ready April 15th. Ladies especially invited.

The Government Building. Congressman McCrery introduced a bill, on last Wednesday, to erect a Government building in Richmond, not to cost more than $100,000. The bill is certain to pass, as Richmond is sorely in need of a house for her U. S. Court, Internal Revenue office and Post-office.

Berkley, Guthrie & Watson. In today's CLIMAX appears the announcement of the well-known firm of Berkley, Guthrie & Watson, the largest and best house in Lexington. Their spring stock of goods is now open to the public, and the public cordially invited. Their variety and quality of goods can't be excelled.

The Weather. Wednesday was a beautiful day but Thursday brought considerable rain. Thursday night was the wildest of the winter and spring, and damage was done to fencing and other light objects. Friday was cold and cloudy with slight snow. Saturday morning revealed one-fourth an inch of snow, but the afternoon was clear and bright. Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock a heavy snow began and continued until midnight when rain succeeded, which continued all day Monday.

At Dillingham's.

The syndicate have had the survey of the Dillingham property completed and sent away to be lithographed. Captain Williamson, the engineer, says there are 400 lots, 500,000 feet, and eight streets. Main Street is continued east through the center. An electric street railway will traverse it.

New Butcher Firm.

Samuel Biggs has bought the interest of W. S. G. Fife in the butcher firm of Fife & Duncan, in the house on Main Street where the Post-office was kept, years ago, and the new firm is Biggs & Duncan. Mr. James Park, one of the most skillful handlers of fresh meats in all the country, continues in charge of the shop.

Doubled Its Size.

Richmond doubled its territorial size, a mile every way from the Court-house, or 15 1/2 square miles. The area was 1,769 square miles. The Legislature extended the limits to one mile in every direction, giving the town 3,146 square miles, or nearly doubled its territory. No city tax will be collected on acreage property, until cut up into lots.

Water Works.

One of the gentlemen from Georgia is here, and another from New York will be here in a few days. They purpose buying the water-works, electric light and gas works, and running them together. In the meantime, the city has been granted a charter and now has the right to erect and operate water-works. Between the two, we are sure to have the important institution, and that right soon.

Good Poultry Record.

Dr. Fowler is a native of Madison. The Stanford Journal says: Mrs. Dr. C. Fowler is entitled to the penant for being the most successful handler of chickens in this section. She has a flock of sixty hens, of which game and domestic mixture, from which during the year just closed she sold 6,024 eggs, netting her $57.70. She also sold a large number of young chickens, which brought her nearly that amount besides using a great many of both eggs and chickens for her table.

Street Extensions.

C. S. Powell has extended B. street north to a point near Prather's line, corner of the new street called Walnut, that is opening west. Walnut street will be extended west. Second street through the Col. Noberly's place to Third street at the R. N. & B. depot. These new streets open up a large number of nice town lots to purchasers.

Judge Morton Banking.

The Lexington Gazette says: "The Central Bank is the name of a new bank that is to be started in this city. The minimum capital stock is $20,000. The incorporators are the following well-known business men: N. F. Berry, Louis Straus, Charles Seelbach, G. A. De Long, J. R. Howard, D. F. Frazer, H. P. Headley, J. K. Morton, W. H. Boswell, R. C. Smith, and W. L. White. It is understood that Mr. Berry is to be the President and Mr. Headley the cashier. A meeting of the incorporators was held and Mr. Watts Parker and Mr. H. P. Headley appointed to draft a charter so that it can be presented to the Legislature."

The Government Building.

Messrs. Chenaunt and Brooks have returned from Washington and say that the committee to which was referred the bill authorizing the erection of a Government building in Richmond, will report the bill favorably to Congress. They say also that there is no doubt about the passage of the bill whenever it reaches a vote. The supervising architect has written to Collector A. R. Burnam for full information concerning the size of his office and the amount of space that will probably be required in the new building. They also for similar information in regard to the post office.

New Houses.

Mr. H. L. Perry has begun the erection of a residence on Broadway. Another residence on Broadway was commenced last week and will be pushed rapidly to completion.

Church Unseated.

The high winds of Thursday night carried away a large portion of the tin roof of Mt. Pleasant Christian Church, near Foxtown. About half of the roof on the north side and a somewhat smaller portion on the south side were taken off. The center of the front gable was torn down nearly to the roof. The wind also fell through the ceiling, damaging it, and injuring the seats and carpet.

Easter.

Of all the festivals of the Church, Easter is to the thoughtful Christian the most joyous. [Next Sunday, April 11th, will be Easter Sunday.] The joy of Easter day is not only in the resurrection of the children at their sports differs from the sober joy of men and women, who know by experience something of the trials and sorrows. The song of the angels, heard on that first Christmas night by the shepherds on the hills of Judea, has not so much content for the sorrow-laden ones of this world, as the simple words of the angels at the sepulchre, to the weeping Mary—"He is not here, He is risen as he said." The joy of Easter is a joy that has triumphed over the profoundest sorrow which this world can produce. The wilderness with its temptations, the weariness and fatigue of his earthly ministry; the struggle and tears of Gethsemane; the pains and agonies of agony of Calvary are now all things of the past. He has done his worst; the serpent has bruised the heel of the seed of women, but He has crushed its head. He has won the victory. He has won the happy songs of childhood and youth are now drowned by the cares and tumults of life. We have to enter the wilderness and struggle with the tempter; we kneel in our Gethsemane with the plans and hopes of life in wreck about us, and at last we see the dawn of Calvary. But now that our Saviour has triumphed, we have no fears of death. When temptations assail us we have the assurance that no temptation can take us, but such as is common to man. When lured by the sorrows of life, we can hear His voice saying: "In the world ye shall have tribulation, but be of good cheer, I have overcome the world," and when at last we must pass through the dark valley and shadow of death, we know that "Christ leads us, no darker road than this we have trod before."

The Casa Grande.

The name of Mr. W. S. Duncan's new lively street, corner of Water and Third Streets, rear of Hotel Glyndon, is the Casa Grande. It is a new place for a large Atlanta stable, but is Italian, meaning literally a big money chest. [It promises to be a gold mine.] This new and commodious stable is ready for the public. It is of brick with tin roof, is 65 feet wide and two stories high. Two handsome and spacious offices, one for gentlemen, the other for ladies, are fitted up with iron manes and leather, glass-panel doors and other attractions. The stalls are forty-five in number—35 on the first floor and 10 above. An easy incline carries horses and vehicles up stairs, where a reservoir, supplied by force pump connecting with two large cisterns, furnishes water through the pipes. A bed room is over one office and harness room over the other. The stable is well lighted and ventilated.

Walter A. Bell will at all times be found at the Casa Grande and will be glad to see his numerous friends.

Dr. Aults Returned.

Dr. A. E. Aults is home from his protracted stay at Charleston, W. Va., where he formerly lived. The winter he went thither to fill his unexpired term as member of the State Legislature. The session was prolonged beyond expectation on account of the heated gubernatorial contest.

The Doctor's public services having ended, he was employed as attending surgeon for a man condemned to be hanged. The trap was sprung, and ten minutes had elapsed when the Doctor proceeded to test the pulse. Life was not extinct, and he stepped back to get a glass of water, when without the slightest warning, the scaffold gave way and precipitated the occupants some distance to the ground. Dr. Aults was painfully hurt about the knee, and was compelled to sit in one position for fifteen days. The past two weeks have much improved him, and he is now about well. He is now permanently located in Richmond, for the practice of his profession.

From Texas.

W. W. Watts, Esq., has returned from Texas. He attended his term, George Igo, to the City Hospital, Fort Worth, and thinks he will recover. The bullet, a .44 caliber, entered under the right shoulder, passed through the lung and came out in front. He did not see the man who shot him, and did not know he was near. The man, named Cross, and is a tough fellow. Igo had sent him across the country with 18 horses. Cross sold nine of them to his father-in-law to pay off a debt, and reported that most of the remainder died. Igo was looking after the horses when the villain slipped up behind him. Cross was killed in the act of shooting, but arrested on the charge of stealing sheep. Being again killed out he was again arrested on another charge.

Dick Igo, a brother of the wounded man, has returned from Texas, having gone out to see him.

Mr. Watts says the forward wheat in Texas was killed by a freeze March 10th, and is being plowed up. Late wheat and corn look well, and the country is prosperous.

Fatal Accident.

On last Wednesday, Lyman Burnell, who lived near White's Station, came to town to get a coffin for his mother-in-law, Mrs. Jennie Golden, aged 75 years, who died that morning. The coffin was placed in a spring wagon and the seat laid across the coffin, the ends being lifted by the horse. Burnell was seated on one end and his son on the other end of the seat. At the K. C. Depot in Richmond, on the way out, the horse started and ran. The boy jumped out, and the seat tilted like a seesaw, throwing Burnell out. His head struck the street and he was killed. The horse ran to the toll-gate and was stopped without further damage.

Burnell died early Thursday morning, was buried Friday at head waters of Silver Creek, by the side of his first wife, by whom he leaves five children. Mrs. Golden's Chapel, near Pilot Knob.

Mrs. Golden's father, "Old Uncle Billy" Golden, died about twenty-three years ago, at the great age of 106 years. He came to Kentucky when it was a wilderness, and helped to lay the logs for the first Court House in the county. He was the grandfather of "Printer" George White, of the CLIMAX office.

A Fig Party.

The newest thing in parties was that sprung upon the unsuspecting public by a dozen young men in this place Friday night. Hotel Glyndon was the scene and Messrs. W. B. Bright, Newland Jones, Jr., W. S. Hume, L. L. Bright, Harvey Chenaunt, F. H. Adair, T. J. Smith, Jr., G. W. Mullins, George W. Phelps, B. L. Minde, and James Crockett, R. W. Miller, W. R. McDowell and W. R. Shackelford, were the conspirators. The gentleman in whose honor the novelty was perpetrated, was Mr. E. H. Watson, a young business man of Mayville.

A buffet dinner, printed menu on pink satin with briol bar, fastened with ribbon, told in French what was before them to refresh the inner man, but we are not sufficiently versed in the language to translate more than a few such simple words as cold water and tooth-picks. The front page was adorned with a portrait of a Frenchman, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center, surrounded by numbers of diminutive porcelain pigs. A lapel of each gentleman's coat was ornamented with an ear of a small pig, combined with a sprig of parsley, bound in gold and on each side of the button hole was suspended a small hickory nut. On the middle finger of the left hand was worn an ordinary hog ring.

The costumes of the gentlemen were really exquisite—pigeon-tail coats, decollete vests, striped pants and patent leather shoes. Standing collar with black laces, and the table was decorated with an immense artificial pig in the center

